The following topics describe how SAVTA uses information voluntarily submitted to us by our members and other visitors to this site, www.savta.org, and other website under SAVTA's control including but not limited to www.savta.org. When applicable this Privacy Policy also applies to information that you may submit to us offline. This Privacy Policy does not apply to third party website you may visit through a link on our website. Similarly, SAVTA does not assume responsibility for any data sharing you may engage in on third party website.

What Information We Collect

You do not need to give us any personal information to browse SAVTA website. As a general matter, when we do request your information it is completely voluntary to provide it to us and is a combination of personal and business related information. Information we typically collect and store includes:

- Your name
- Your job title
- Your organization/company/related business name
- Your email address (can be either business or personal depending on what you provide us)
- Your phone number (can be either business or personal depending on what you provide us)
- Your mailing and billing address (can be either business or personal depending on what you provide us)

In some circumstances, we may also ask you to provide the following information:

- Your professional photograph/headshot
- Your demographic information
- Your resume/CV
- Your social media handles (can be either business or personal depending on what you provide us)
- Your professional biography
- Your professional interest areas

When you purchase products, services, event registrations, and other for-sale items from us, we will collect payment information from you at the time. If you elect to pay with a credit card, that information is never stored on our servers nor on any third-party platform we employ to process credit card transactions. SAVTA staff will never have access to your credit card data unless you provide it directly to us. If you provide your credit card data to us verbally or through our secure fax number, that information is never duplicated and is destroyed after the proper processing of your request.

When completing forms on SAVTA website, the IP address of the network you are using may also be collected with the personal information you provide. Your IP address is used by SAVTA only to administer SAVTA website and help diagnose server and website error reports and is not stored on your customer record. We do not collect IP addresses on anonymous forms and surveys.

When you sign into SAVTA site, a log of the date and time of that login is recorded.

Other information than that outlined here may be requested depending on the circumstances, but it is completely voluntary to provide it.

In addition, when you interact with SAVTA site, our servers may keep a log that does not identify you personally (“non-personal information”) since we do not combine it with any identifying information. We use this data to ensure the security and performance of our website and mitigate website and server issues. This data includes:

- Device information used for accessing the website such as device type, platform, IP address, geolocation information, unique device identifiers, browser type, browser language, and other transactional information; and
- Other “traffic data” such as time of access, date of access, error reports, pages accessed, and referring website addresses.

Other non-personal information we may collect includes:

- Demographic data such as age, gender, general interests, and five-digit zip code;
- Usage information about what is accessed on the website including pages viewed and time spent on the website; and
- Search terms and search results.

There are many ways that you can control non-personal data that your computer sends to us but it depends largely on privacy settings you control through your internet browser. We suggest that you visit your internet browser setting options to limit or stop this data from being sent to us.

How We Collect Information

The following lists the most common ways in which we collect your identifying information:

- When you register for membership;
- When you sign up to receive email from us;
- When you participate in surveys, panels, or research;
- When you register for and participate in our programs, activities, initiatives, and events;
- When you request information or assistance;
- When you purchase a product, service, subscription, event registration or other for-sale item from us;
- When you apply to participate in programs and initiatives;
- When you participate in communities, chat rooms, and other interactive services;
- When you provide user-generated content on any of our website that permits it; and
- In conjunction with any other place on our website where you knowingly enter personal information.

We may also collect and store other publicly available organization information from third-party sources (e.g. Foundation Center, GuideStar, Internal Revenue Service of the United States, etc.) on your customer record, including annual giving amount, assets, and other data reported via IRS forms 990 and 990-PF.

How We Use Your Information

In general, we use the personal information we collect from you to pursue our mission and to engage in the activity for which we collect it. Most commonly, we also use your personal and non-personal information in these specific ways:

- For editorial purposes;
- Responding to your inquiries;
- Communicating with you about your account or transactions with us;
- Sending you newsletters, mailings, and information about programs, initiatives, activities, for-sale items, and events by email or another medium;
- Processing your membership application;
- Event or program registration;
- Optimizing or improving our programs, services, and operations;
- Research and development;
- Verifying your account and account activities;

- Detecting, investigating, and preventing activities that may violate our policies or be illegal;
- Improving and personalizing our website and communications;
- Performing statistical, demographic, and marketing analyses regarding website traffic and usage patterns; and
- Managing our organization.

We may use your personal and non-personal information in other ways as stated in this privacy policy.

How We Share Your Information

SAVTA is dedicated to ethical practices in all of our operations and to protecting the privacy of all visitors to our website and all individuals whose data we collect and store. Except as outlined in the paragraphs below, we do not sell, barter, give away, rent, or permit anyone outside the Council on Foundations to use or access your personal information.

We use independent contractors and third-party agents, affiliates, platforms, and partners to perform functions and provide services such as marketing, analytics, e-commerce, customer record retention, online communities, etc. on our behalf. These entities have access to the personal information needed to perform their functions and are contractually obligated to maintain the confidentiality and security of any personal information we collect. They are restricted from using, selling, distributing, or altering this data in any way other than to provide the requested services to SAVTA. These individuals and organizations are also contractually obligated to be GDPR compliant for information related to EU data subjects.

Your email address will only be used within SAVTA. SAVTA does not share, sell or rent email addresses to anyone outside the organization. How We Secure Your Data SAVTA uses a variety of security measures to protect your data. We maintain physical, electronic and procedural safeguards to help prevent unauthorized access to and improper use of personally identifiable information.

We protect the security of credit card transactions initiated through this website using a number of measures such as encryption, access controls, network firewalls, and physical security. We are PCI compliant. When we work with other companies to process credit card transactions, those companies also use encryption and other appropriate security measures.

No website or electronic data can ever be completely secure, but the Council works to maintain up-to-date and appropriate security mechanisms.

How You Access Your Data & GDPR

The General Data Protection Regulation (“GDPR”) is a European Regulation concerning the use and processing of personal information. We are committed to processing your information in compliance with the GDPR.

We will use reasonable efforts to securely process all personal information in line with the rights specified under the GDPR, in particular those related to the following requests:

- Access to your personal information;
- Correction of the personal information that we hold;
- Deletion of your personal information;
- A restriction of processing of your personal information;
- Transfer of your personal information to another party; or
- Objection to processing of your personal information based on SAVTA’s legitimate interest (or those of a third party) to use it and there is something about your particular situation that causes you to object to such processing.

You have the right to lodge a complaint regarding any violations of the GDPR with the applicable supervisory data protection authority (i.e., in the country where you reside).

You have the right to request to access, rectify or request erasure of personal data, or restrict or object to the processing concerning your personal data.

If you would like to request that we delete your personal information, please send your request to aloapolicy@aloea.org. We will respond to you to confirm receipt of your request. Except in situations where we are unable to comply due to a legal obligation or an ongoing contractual relationship, we will comply with such request within thirty (30) calendar days.

We hold your information and use it as described in this Privacy Policy and will use reasonable measures to ensure that your personal information is only transferred to third parties who also maintain at least the standard of protection required under the GDPR. We consider that SAVTA has a legitimate interest in collecting and processing your information when you provide it to us.
